Nursing Services

The hospital has affiliation agreements with nursing schools at the Community College of Rhode Island, Salve Regina University and the University of Rhode Island. These affiliations enhance the recruitment of staff and promote education and collaboration. Determination of staffing requirements is based on patient care acuity. Patients' needs are classified each day. To manage short-term fluctuations in patient census and acuity, Newport Hospital has a hospital-based per diem staff of nurses.

Licensure, Accreditations and Memberships

Newport Hospital is licensed by the Rhode Island Department of Health and is accredited by The Joint Commission and the DNV as well as a number of other accrediting organizations, including the American Association of Blood Banks, the American College of Radiology—mammography, the American College of Surgeons—Commission on Cancer, the College of American Pathologists—Commission on Laboratory Accreditation, the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities—Comprehensive Inpatient Rehabilitation, the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiological Technology and Respiratory Therapy Education (in conjunction with the Community College of Rhode Island). Newport Hospital was three times designated a Magnet hospital by the American Nurses Credentialing Center, a branch of the American Nurses Association. Newport Hospital was designated a primary stroke center by The Joint Commission in 2010.

Memberships include the American Medical Rehabilitation Providers Association; the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging; and the National Brain Injury Association.
